New Chief Auditor Appointed at PERAC

Caryn M. Shea joins the Agency with extensive experience in public agency auditing

Caryn Shea
PERAC Chief Auditor

Suzanne Bump and previously under former State Auditors A. Joseph DeNucci and John J. Finnegan.

Ms. Shea holds a B.S. in Business Administration with a Concentration in Accounting from Fitchburg State University and is a Certified Public Accountant and Certified Fraud Specialist in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Ms. Shea has also been a part of the retirement community for the past 20 years since joining the Shrewsbury Board as the fifth member in 1996, and had served as the chairperson for the past eight years.

Executive Director Joseph E. Connarton welcomed Caryn to the PERAC staff:

“I am pleased to announce the appointment of Caryn Shea as our new Chief Auditor.

Caryn is no stranger to State Government auditing and its unique administrative challenges. She brings an almost unparalleled level of experience and proficiency in Massachusetts public auditing to our agency. The length and breadth of her experience in the State Auditor’s office, not to mention her significant experience in private sector auditing, will be a tremendous asset to our agency as we continue to meet one of our most vital responsibilities - auditing our 104 retirement systems.

I know that Chairman Philip Y. Brown, his fellow Commissioners and the entire staff join me in welcoming Caryn Shea to PERAC.”
